

Kitepipe Workday Employee Hub

Implement powerful employee data mastering with Workday

Workday is a powerful, popular HRIS system that helps medium-to-large enterprises manage the full employee lifecycle. Workday becomes the source of truth for the organization about all things Worker – but there are many other users and systems in the organization that need that data.

BUSINESS CHALLENGE

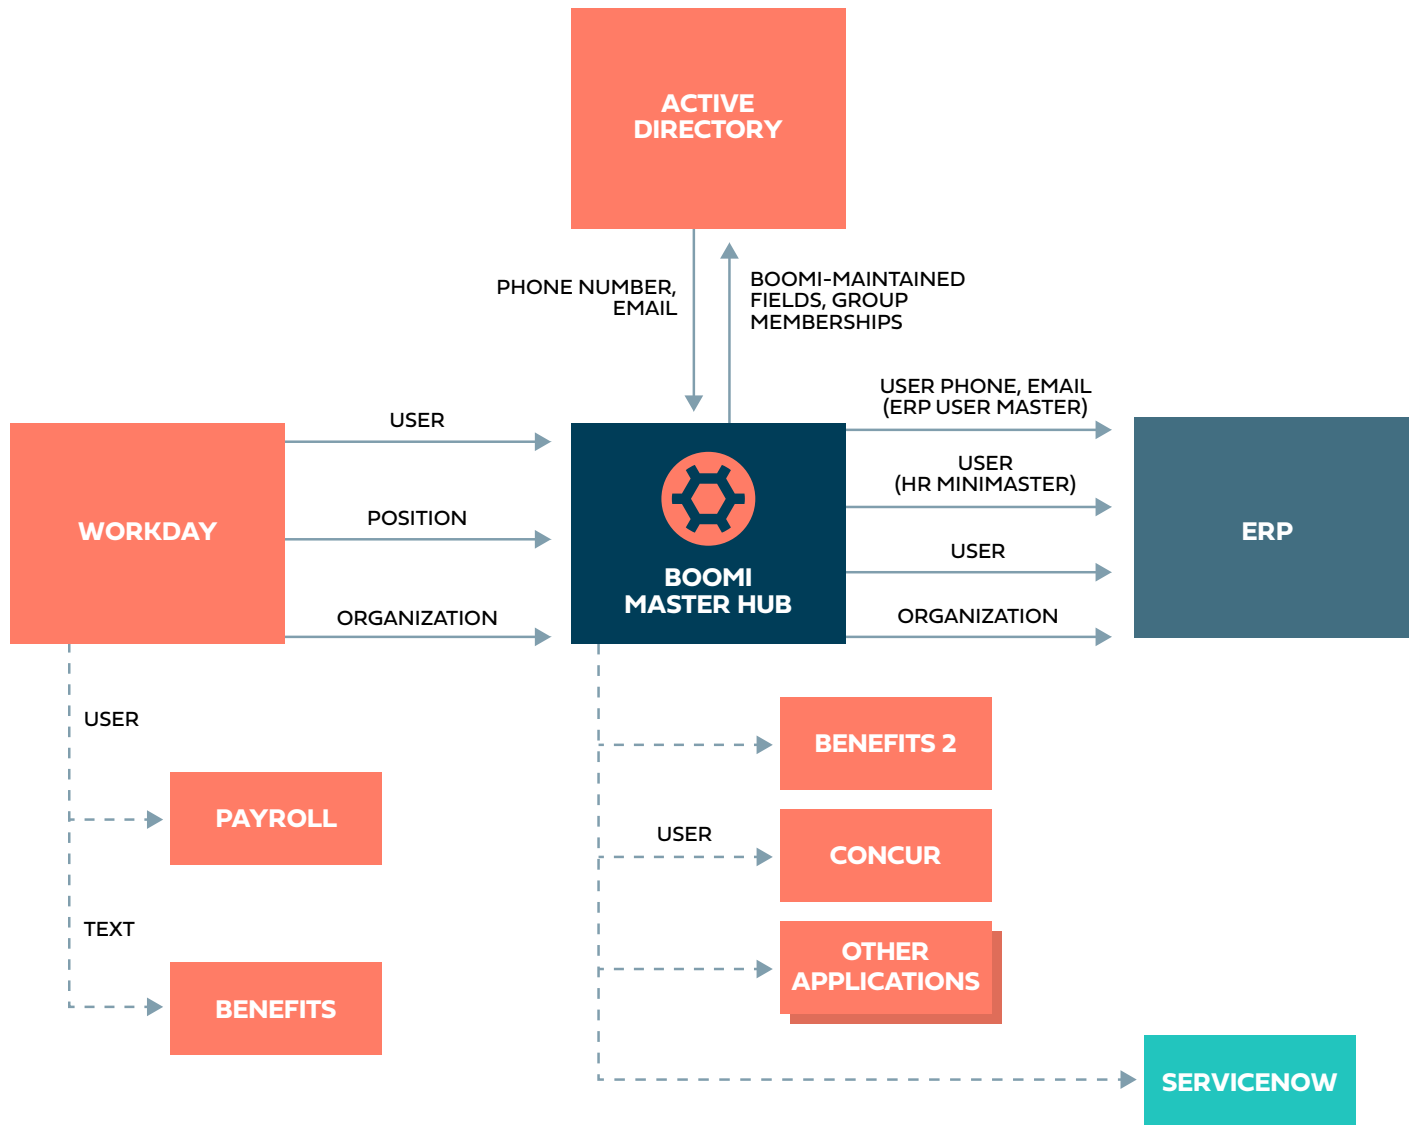

What if there was a powerful, easy to implement way to selectively distribute that Worker data to other applications so that every user and workstream had secure access to current worker data? What if setting the hire date for a new employee in Workday set them up in all the other applications that they needed to access on day one? That is the power of Employee Hub.

SOLUTION DESCRIPTION

As of Q1 2022, Kitepipe has executed 20+ client projects connecting Workday to the client application landscape via Boomi Master Data Hub. Customers report dramatic improvements in worker data quality and reductions in employee onboarding time. Specific proof points include:

- A high growth tech company saw errors in worker data across applications go from 7.5% to zero
- Moderna saved 5 FTE in the HR organization by automating employee onboarding from Workday through Boomi Master Data Hub to ServiceNow, Active Directory and 20 other applications
- Moderna was able to execute hypergrowth through the pandemic in part because its team had invested in employee onboarding automation with Kitepipe and Boomi Master Data Hub
- Multiple high growth tech companies in Kitepipe's portfolio have successfully aligned HR cost codes, GL accounts, and org structure across Workday, ERP, and budgeting systems with Employee Hub
